

What to Bring to AIS-Salzburg: Boarding Students

Important Pre-considerations:

I Climate: The Salzburg region is warm and pleasant in the summer, early fall, and late spring. However, temperatures during the winter months can often be around or below zero degrees. Precipitation occurs throughout the year with rain in the Fall and Spring and snow during the winter months.

II. Space: Each student will be given adequate (but not generous) closet and storage space in the dormitory rooms which must be equitably shared with their roommate(s). Personal items which cannot be stored in the space provided must be marked and deposited in storage areas specified by the resident-care staff and available on request only. Additional or replacement furnishings are not allowed in the school's dormitory rooms and all personal items must fit neatly in the rooms without violation of any health, safety, or fire codes.

III. Dress Code: Students at AIS-Salzburg will spend the majority of their time each day under the requirements of "academic attire" or "casual attire" within the parameters of the school's dress code. Therefore, students and parents should be certain that the clothing brought to the school meet the expectations of this code. It is recommended that all students have a minimum of five or six outfits that meet the expectations of "academic attire" and an appropriate number of casual clothing items; none of which are in violation of the school's expectations. This means that young men should bring a minimum of five or six pairs of pants which are not of denim and do not have patch pockets and at least five or six shirts with collars (dress or polo shirts). Girls should have slacks or pants which are also not made of denim and do not have patch pockets, as well as dresses, tops, and other items of clothing which are in agreement with the school's expectations for academic attire.
